

THE INSTITUTE GIVES THANKS TO

Members of the Institute --- you keep the Institute's program running by paying your dues, registering for classes, teaching classes, coordinating events, serving as committee chairs and board directors and helping with administration.

Friends of the Institute --- you take Institute Membership to a higher level. In addition to doing everything Members do; you raise funds, recruit new members, and provide social activities for the Members to enjoy.

Annual Corporate Sponsors --- Not only do you financially support the Institute, you also show the community that you value the Institute.

Community Volunteers --- Because you feel a commitment to the Institute for a variety of reasons, you help out with building maintenance and repair, refreshments, flyer and poster distributions, mailings, graphic design, proof-reading, ushering, supplies inventories, room setups and breakdowns, and many other unsung activities.

Tzimon Barto --- The Institute owes you a huge thank you. You have volunteered your talent and time to the Barto Prize for solo piano compositions which is awarded biennially at a concert you perform for the Institute. This prize has given the Institute an international reputation for excellence.

Institute Board of Directors --- You volunteer your time and expertise to running the Institute as a not-for-profit corporation. You insure the Institute is compliant with all laws and regulations, you advise the staff on programming, and you keep a keen eye on the budget.

City of Eustis --- You have supported the Institute with grant funding, sponsorships, and the use of city facilities.

United Arts of Central Florida --- You have recognized the Institute's program as a community arts and culture resource and your funding has been very helpful.

The Institute's Facilitators, Teachers, and Lecturers --- Many of you volunteer your time and expertise and others of you are willing to work for reduced fees in order to provide interesting and informative classes. You have demonstrated a high degree of professionalism and combined it with your love of learning to provide memorable experiences.

Stetson University's School of Music --- Your partnership in the Community Concert Series has been wonderful. Your musicians provide high caliber live performances to a community that has previously had to travel for such an experience.

Lake Sumter Community College --- Another wonderful partnership that brings LSCC faculty to the Institute.
